This graph aggregates all recorded expenses from all family members to show total daily household spending.

"For June 2026, the household's total expenses amounted to 11421. The majority of the spending was allocated to fixed commitments, with House Rent and a Group Loan accounting for over 87% of the total. Variable expenses included Groceries, Food, Medical, Footwear, Transport, and Vegetables, which collectively represent the remaining portion of the budget."

EFFICIENCY INSIGHTS

- ✓ Over 87% of the monthly budget is consumed by fixed expenses (House Rent and Group Loan), indicating limited flexibility for discretionary spending or unforeseen costs.
- ✓ There are multiple, small purchases within the Groceries and Food categories (e.g., biscuits, kurkuri, ice cream, individual mango buys), suggesting fragmented shopping habits that could lead to impulse purchases and potentially higher overall costs.
- ✓ The medical expense of 350 for 'Aska' represents a notable variable cost for the month, highlighting the impact of health-related outlays on the flexible budget.

SAVINGS ACTION PLAN

Consolidate Grocery and Food Purchases: Aim for fewer, larger shopping trips for groceries and planned food items instead of frequent small purchases. This can reduce impulse buys and potentially secure better value through bulk purchasing.

Review Discretionary Food Spending: Evaluate if some of the 'Food' category expenses (e.g., Maza, Kurkuri, Lasi, Icecream) can be reduced or replaced with more economical homemade alternatives. Even small reductions here can accumulate savings over time.

Budget for Irregular Medical Expenses: While specific medical costs are unpredictable, consider setting aside a small, consistent amount each month into a dedicated fund to help absorb future medical expenses like the one incurred for 'Aska', rather than having them impact the monthly flexible budget significantly.
